A. Fiona Denison

We decided to cycle across the Island of Cumbrea. On route to Millport there were many hills so we arrived there very tired. First, we took pictures of a unique rock which was painted to look like a crocodile. In the evening, we relaxed outside a café, watching a parade of the local bands playing traditional Scottish music.

B. Eva Clarkson

While we were cycling around Loch Leven, a famous Scottish lake, we took lots of pictures of unusual fish swimming underwater and impressive birds flying over the lake. Then we hired a boat and went to see the castle situated on a small island on the lake. We learned a lot from our guide about Scottish culture and history. For example, we learnt that Mary, Queen of Scots was kept as a prisoner in this castle.

C. Andy Wilkins

My friend and I were looking for information about Kirkpatrick Macmillan, the well-known Scot who built the first pedal-powered bicycle. We cycled through the region where he lived and where he often travelled on his bike. Our photo of a replica of this historical bike is our favourite souvenir from that trip.

A LUXURIOUS SHIP

The Oasis of the Seas is one of the largest cruise ships in the world which can carry 6,000 passengers. It has everything a tourist can dream of. There is a small golf course, a basketball and volleyball court, an ice rink for skating and playing ice hockey and two rock-climbing walls. There is also an open-air swimming pool on board which is used by swimmers in the morning, and becomes a theatre in the afternoon. However, the theatre is not big enough to hold everyone, so tourists have to book tickets for the most popular shows before the journey starts. Passengers can also take a walk in the park. The trees and exotic flowers growing there are real but there are no birds or animals in it.

The Oasis of the Seas uses the latest technologies. The captain says that his job is not hard because he controls everything thanks to computers. To make the trip an unforgettable experience for passengers, 2,000 people are employed on the ship including cooks, waiters, cleaners, shop assistants and entertainers.
